The Charge of the Light Brigade was one of the most famous and disastrous military actions of the Crimean War. On October 25, 1854, a British cavalry brigade led by Captain Nolan charged into a heavily fortified Russian position and was decimated. Out of the 673 men who charged, only 195 survived.

Whatever the truth may be, there is no doubt that Nolan was a complex and fascinating figure. He was a brilliant strategist and a skilled horseman. He was also a man of great courage and determination. His death at the Charge of the Light Brigade was a tragedy, but his legacy lives on.
