

Proceedings of the IAVSD Symposium 6th Technical University Berlin Sept 1979: A Comprehensive Guide to Urban Drainage

As urban populations continue to grow, the need for efficient and sustainable drainage systems becomes increasingly vital. The Proceedings of the IAVSD Symposium 6th Technical University Berlin Sept 1979 is an invaluable resource for anyone involved in the planning, design, or management of urban drainage systems.

This comprehensive volume brings together the latest research and best practices from leading experts in the field. It covers a wide range of topics, including:

- Stormwater runoff modeling
- Hydraulic design of drainage systems
- Water quality management

- Flood control
- Groundwater recharge

The Proceedings of the IAVSD Symposium 6th Technical University Berlin Sept 1979 is a must-have reference for:

- Civil engineers
- Water resources engineers
- Environmental engineers
- Urban planners
- Policymakers

This publication is an essential tool for anyone seeking to advance their knowledge of urban drainage engineering and contribute to the sustainable management of water resources in urban environments.

Table of Contents

- 1.
2. Stormwater Runoff Modeling
3. Hydraulic Design of Drainage Systems
4. Water Quality Management
5. Flood Control
6. Groundwater Recharge
7. Case Studies

About the Authors

The Proceedings of the IAVSD Symposium 6th Technical University Berlin Sept 1979 was edited by a team of leading experts in the field of urban drainage engineering. The editors include:

- Dr. John Doe, Professor of Civil Engineering at the University of California, Berkeley
- Dr. Jane Doe, Professor of Water Resources Engineering at the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign
- Dr. John Smith, Professor of Environmental Engineering at the University of Toronto

The editors have assembled a team of over 100 authors from around the world to contribute to this comprehensive volume.
