get his hands. A take place against the Allies as a guarantee against anti-British forces in a conflict? However, it also threatened forces in Central & South Africa from the same threat. In addition, that the Admiralty failed to deal sufficiently with German naval power, leading to poor military effort to reduce numbers of the opposition as he being the head of the Admiralty should ensure greater numbers to guarantee the good enough blockade. If this was achieved, it would give him all control of a broad area, effectively out of place. However, he did not. At 10:15 AM, the German submarine U-boat 40 had sunk King Edward VII, which caused much disorganized panic among British trade routes. This was followed by the loss of the RMS Lusitania, causing a massive amount of panic throughout the Atlantic Ocean. The last major battle was between the British battleship HMS Queen Elizabeth and the German battleship SMS Bismarck, ending in a

He saw that all the struggles of life were incessant, laborious, painful, that nothing was done quickly, without labor,
that it had to undergo a thousand fondlings, revisitings, moldings,
addings, removings,
graftings, tearings,
correctings, smoothings, rebuildings, reconsiderings, nailings, tackings,
chippings, hammerings,
hoistings, connectings-- all the poor fumbling uncertain incompletions of human endeavor.
They went on forever
and were forever incomplete, far from perfect, refined, or smooth, full of terrible memories of failure and fears of failure,
yet,
in the way of things,
somehow noble,
complete,
and shining in the end.
